

Where the Poles meet

Author/Director: Juan Martin Cueva

Producer: Ardèche Images Production

Country: France

Length: 52'

Juan, the film director, is Ecuadorian, his partner, Francisca, is Cuban. They live in Paris where their two children were born, just like Juan 30 years earlier. By switching back and forward from past to present, between the history of a family across 3 generations and that of a whole continent, the film director considers the issue of political commitment and the heritage left to the next generation.

What can they know about the history which links them to the American continent and in particular to the revolutionary struggles of Latin America ?

Awards: Best video documentary at Festival Internacional de Cine de Valdivia, Chile

Festivals:

New York, LaCinemaFe / "Los Angeles Latino International Film Festival", USA / Docúpolis, Spain / Festival Permanente de Cine Latinoamericano de El Salvador / Chicago Film Festival, USA / VI Muestra Iberoamericana de Cine, Ecuador

Coproduction: Gsara, Bochinche

Original version: Spanish

Versions available:

French version

English version

Originale version

Credits:

Director : Juan Martin Cueva

<http://www.andanafilms.com/catalogueFiche.php?idFiche=104&lang=en>