

Fragments of a Revolution

Author/Director: Anonymous

Producer: Mille et Une films

Country: France

Length: 57'

During the period of one year, Iranian exiles followed the « green revolution » via Internet from the street demonstrations to the so called trials.. Between the anonymous amateur images and the official government images, the feelings expressed in emails they received and the official speeches, they tried to construct, from a distance, their own story of the events.

This film tells one of those stories.
